Why do we have a dress code?

Instructors need to be able to see students' proper alignment to ensure that they are moving properly, in order to prevent injury and give the proper correction to form. Different dance techniques require clothing that brings out the best in that dance style.

Here are a few suggestions to set your dancer up for success:

*Dancers who are in properly fitting dance clothing are not distracted by their clothing. Tights should be specific dance tights. Leotards should cover their bodies, provide adequate support where needed, and have enough stretch that they stay in place while dancing.

You must purchase your dancewear through WWW.SHOPNIMBLY.COM/GRACEKELLYSTUDIO.

*It is a good idea to look at how much your child will be dancing throughout the week and take the time purchase enough dance wear. One nice leotard and a pair of dance tights is going to be better than several ill-fitting options.

*Dedicate your child's dancewear for dance class, not for everyday wear. Use a small bag to keep dance shoes in. By taking the time to purchase items specifically for dance class you are sending the message to your child that you believe in them, that what they are doing is really important, and that you are trusting that they are going to work hard and take their training seriously.

*Dancers shouldn't be concerned that their hair is going to fall onto their face. Ballet dancers need a bun and all other dancers need a bun/ponytail. Most students are going to need an extra hair tie, bobby pins, clips, and a little hairspray for it to be secure.

*Dress code can help to remind dancers that they are a part of a group. They are part of a whole; an important piece of the cohesive group. You must order through WWW.SHOPNIMBLY.COM/GRACEKELLYSTUDIO.
